

...amidst gentle natural beauty

The location of the house is amongst the finest in Ireland, enjoying an elevated site overlooking Rathmullan's long sandy beach.

The surrounding gardens and lawns are beautifully maintained with features of architectural and botanical interest awaiting discovery.

The grounds include a picturesque 9-hole pitch & putt course and a hard tennis court for our more active visitors.

The dining room, with its daily-changing menu, offers guests high-quality, freshly prepared food. The kitchen is supplied by two award-winning local butchers.

Our own walled garden provides fruit, vegetables and herbs. Locally caught fish and shellfish round out the menu.

Fort Royal Country House is in Rathmullan, a picturesque village on the shores of Lough Swilly in County Donegal, Ireland. Donegal boasts a magnificent coastline and rugged mountain scenery, renowned golf courses and the spectacular Glenveagh National Park.

FORT ROYAL

A tradition of quiet comfort...

Fort Royal is a quiet family-run country house on the edge of Lough Swilly, just 15 miles north of Letterkenny.

Built in 1805, the house is set in 18 acres of private lawn and woodland overlooking the beach and lough.

Fort Royal is now in the third generation of one family. Tim and Tina Fletcher welcome guests to enjoy this lovely house. Together they maintain the original appeal of Fort Royal while continually meeting the requirements of the modern-day visitor.

The house has 11 well-appointed bedrooms with en suite bathrooms.
